TWO MILLION BU. OF GRAIN BURNED TODAY

Grain Marketing Corporation's Elevators in Chicago Burn

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, April 23—More than 2,000,000 bushels of corn and oats belonging to the Grain Marketing Corporation, were destroyed in a fire which started shortly before midnight, threatening an industrial section of the south side before it was subdued early today.

The loss was estimated at $2,250,000 by E. F. Roenbaum, president of the Rosenbaum Grain Corporation, through which the elevators were leased to the Farmers Cooperative organization. Destruction of the grain he estimated at $1,500,000 and of the structures, at $750,000. The losses were adequately covered by insurance he said.

Worst Fire in Years.

Nearly half of the fire fighting force of the city was called out by Chief Seferlich, who called it the worst grain elevator fire in a score of years. Sparks and burning brands started fifteen small fires in the vicinity and heat was so intense firemen were unable to get within 150 feet of the burning buildings.

Blazing grain, pouring into the south branch of the Chicago river, clogged the stream, threatened shipping. Police reserves were called to control several thousand spectators endangered by falling walls.

The fire was discovered by a bridge tender who saw the flames coming from the top of one of the elevators which were each about 150 feet in height and occupied half an acre.

CIRCUIT COURT IN OGLE COUNTY OPENS APRIL 27

Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon to Preside at Court

Oregon—The April term of the Ogle County Circuit court will convene Monday, April 27, with Judge Harry Edwards, Dixon, presiding.

The docket for the term shows about the average number of new cases, there being 17 new common law and 24 new chancery cases.

Noticeable in the dropping off of divorce actions over previous terms. At the January 1925 term there were thirteen divorce actions, while but six are filed for the present term. These six ask severance of the marriage bond, charging cruelty, desertion and non-support.

North Dixon Juniors to Present Unusual Comedy

The Junior class of the north side high school will present an unusual type of play. 'Am I Intruding," a comedy at their annual performances Friday and Saturday evenings of this week at the auditorium of the north side school.

"Am I Intruding?" is a thoroughly modern comedy causing laughter galore, based on a mystery plot that holds the attention from start to finish and comes out quite differently from what anyone in the audience is expecting. There is really no big star part, all the people in the cast having an unusual opportunity to shine as individuals.

Any Chickens Stolen in Vicinity? Tell Risley

Sheriff Elliott C. Risley was called by telephone this morning from Princeton, Sheriff Harry Mills of that county seeking information concerning three men who are being held at the county jail at that place. The Bureau county sheriff stated that the trio were driving a Dodge-Graham truck loaded with chickens, which they are said to have admitted were stolen, but were unable to state where they had been taken from. Sheriff Mills requested that reports of losses of chickens in Lee county be checked with a view of ascertaining where the poultry was taken from.

Robbers of Lynn Center Store Shot by Its Owner

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Rock Island, Ill., April 23—Two robbers are believed to have been wounded, one probably fatally at shortly after 2 o'clock this morning when they were fired upon by Ed Berguson, proprietor of a general store at Lynn Center, Illinois, southeast of here, when he caught them in the act of robbing his establishment.

HOUSE AGAINST SENATE MOVE TO REDISTRICT ILL.

Upper House Accused of Passing the Buck in Vital Matter

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Re-apportionment of the state of Illinois became a dead issue this morning when the House by a vote of 76 to 54 refused to concur in senate resolution number 5, which would appoint a committee of five senators and five respresentatives to devise a plan for it.

Representative Truman Snell, Carlinville, speaking against the measure, declared the Senate was "running true to form in passing the buck to the House, knowing it could do nothing else bue defeat the measure."

The Senate resolution was similar to the Schneckenburg re-apportionment resolution defeated in the House else but defeat the measure."

Fergus Threatens Suits.

Following the vote on senate resolution number 5, John Fergus, aged Chicagoan who has been leading the apportionment fight at this session, said he would attempt to have those who voted against the resolution indicted in the Sangamon County Circuit Court for malfeasance in office. He claims they violated their oath when they refused to reapportion the state in accordance with the constitution.

Although today's action ended the hopes of the Chicago delegation of passing a favorable re-apportionment resolution at this session, the subject will come up again next week when Representative Lincoln J. Bancroft of Greenup will introduce another resolution which will seek to limit for all time Chicago's representation in the general assembly.

League is Attacked.

Bitter attacks on Fergus, the Legislative Voters League and the Chicago Tribune were made by down state men during the debate. Lee O'Neill Browne, Ottawa, and Representative H. M. McCaskrin, Rock Island, declared that the league represents less than five percent of the voters of the state, McCaskrin averred that "the scoundrels at the head of this league have attempted to defeat certain members of this body by circulating malicious lies about them.

William G. Thon, Chicago, offered a defense for Fergus and the league and said the latter organization is headed by some of the most prominent business men and lawyers in the state.

The Chicago men supported the resolution en masse, but the down state members stood together to defeat it.

Bounty on Bank Robbers.

A bill which would put $1,000 on the head of every bank robber and would provide a $50,000 fund to pay such bounties, was passed by the Senate and sent to the House. It provides that the reward should be given any one killing a bank robber or capturing him, to be paid in case of capture on the robber's conviction.

Declaring that this is the most peaceful session of the general assembly he has ever seen and bids fair to do better work than any of its predecessors, Senator Charles S. Deneen told members of thelegislature, he hoped the results of the general essembly's work will be as good as the attention they have given it. Deneen reviewed the program arranged for the next session of Congress and expressed hope that the Great Lakes to the Gulf water way may become a realty as the result of its work. Many senators from other states agree on its value to the commerce and industry of the nation, he said.

Praise for Illinois.

Revision of freight rates and the adoption of some scheme to aid the farmer as the result of the work of the president's agricultural commission also are in prospect together with a consideration of the world court proposal which will open in Washington next Dec. 17, he added:

"My observations here and in Washington make me more than ever convinced that Illinois leads in more things than any other state in the union," Deneen said. "It leads in education. In a way it cares for its handicapped children and unfortunates and in the development of good relations between capital and labor. The best we can do to aid its development is none too good. There should and will be co-operation between this body and the delegation of this state in Washington. We have heard that there are already too many laws. That is not so. There are not too many laws if they are good laws."

Bar Ass'n. Memorial for Deceased Members

Memorial services, commemorating the memory of Judge John B. Crabtree and of W. F. Preston, will be held at the Circuit Court Room at the Court, House by the Lee County Bar Association, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

This meeting will be open for everyone who cares to attend, and the public is invited.

ODD FELLOWS TO CELEBRATE 106th BIRTHDAY

Entertainment Marks Event in Dixon on Saturday Eve

To commemorate the 106th anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Dixon lodge has planned an entertainment and dance at their hall for Saturday evening, which members of the lodges at Amboy, Ashton and Lee Center have been invited to attend.

The feature of the evening will be an address by John L. Whitman, former state Superintendent of Prisons and now Warden of the new Illinois penitentiary at Stateville. Mr. Whitman, who is a native of Sterling, was for many years Cook county jailer and is recognized throughout the nation as an authority on criminology and penal institutions.

In addition to Mr. Whitman's address there will be a short program, to consist of violin solo, reading, a quartet, etc., and a dance and refreshments will complete the entertainment. Odd Fellows an dtheri families are invited to the affair, which will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

KEEN RIVALRY MARKING CLASS MEET OF D. H. S.

Juniors and Sophmores Lead in Interclass Track Contests

There is evidence of great rivalry among the classes in the inter-class meet to be staged by Coaches Weiss and Bowers of the high school. This meet comes each year just before the first regular meet and is an indication of the possibilities of the D. H. S. in this sport. This year the keenest rivalry is between the Sophomores and Juniors who at the close of the program Wednesday, were far in the lead of the Freshmen and the Seniors. There was nothing phenomenal in the records of the first six events, which were run Wednesday, although Mc Nicol and Prescott were handy with the javelin and should they repeat their performance Saturday at Mt. Morris they are almost sure of a place. It is possible that in the remaining events, which will be run Friday evening, other performers of merit will be discovered. The standing of the four classes with the first six events completed was :

Juniors	32
Sophomores	20
Seniors	2
Freshmen	0

Traffic Officer Held as Robber of Messenger

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, April 23—Raymond F. Vinickey, 26, a traffic policeman, was held today after Patrolman James Gavin identified him as one of three robbers who kidnapped him and stole $10,000 from a bank messenger he was guarding March 21. A pistol taken from Gavin at the time was traced through a watchman who subsequently bought it, back to Vinickey. Last night the traffic officer was summoned to the detective bureau, confronted by Gavin and arrested.

FIVE SUSPENDED FROM SCHOOL FOR TAKING AUTO RIDE

Dixon Girl One of DeKalb Students Victim of Brown's Order

Because they broke a minor rule of the Northern Illinois Teachers' College at DeKalb—one prohibitng automobile riding after dark—three young ladies and two men of that institution, including Miss Gladys Frye of Dixon, were suspended from that institution by J. Stanley Brown, president. As a result some 200 students of the institution are said to be threatening to strike.

A petition, reported to have been signed by the 200, protesting the suspension of the students for an auto ride to Rochelle, from which they returned in time for the girls to be in their dormitory by 9:20 Sunday evening, had not been received by President Brown at noon today, he said. Mr. Brown this morning issued a statement as follows:

President's Statement

"Nothing has occurred at the State Teachers' College to interfere with the regular assembly of classes for regular duty. The general assembly of men and women yesterday was an ordinary assembly. The only outstanding interest at the college seems to be in the baseball game with Armour Institute this afternoon. There is no inclination at the college to withhold information or to circulate rumors."

Alleged Details

Alleged details of the infraction are given in the following from this morning's Chicago Herald & Examiner:

Two hundred of the 500 students at the Northern Illinois Teachers' College, at DeKalb, were threatening to strike yesterday.

The threats follow the suspension of three girls and two young men Monday. They had violated a college regulation against automobile riding after dark.

The three girls suspended are Miss Gladys Frye of Dixon, Miss Ethel Mitchell of Byron and Miss Bernice Tobin of Elgin. The men are Julian Peterson and Harlan Hanway.

Came Back Early

The five, with Martin Herr, a recent graduate of the college, motored to Rochelle, sixteen miles west of DeKalb, Sunday night. There they dined, and, still at an early evening hour, drove back to DeKalb.

A member of the college faculty saw the students in Rochelle. The suspension order came Monday.

Monday night there was a student mass meeting of protest.

A petition, carrying more than 200 names, was drawn up, declaring that "We, the undersigned, have been guilty of similar offenses such as that which was acknowledged by the five students, and we request that each individual be treated impartially."

Calls Order Final

President Brown said that the petition had not been presented to him up to late yesterday afternoon.

He indicated, however, that his order was final and that no threats or action on the part of students could induce him to relent.

Chauncey M. Depew, 91, to Have Dinner This Eve

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, April 23.—Chauncey M. Depuy, chairman of the board of directors of the New York Central Railroad and former United States senator from New York, planned to celebrate his 91st birthday today, he announced, "by plugging away at his job," entertaining "a few old cronies at dinner tonight" and leaving "Providence to worry about the number of years he will live beyond 100."

He used to smoke 30 cigars a day, he told reporters yesterday, drank a pint of champagne daily and eat heartily of red meat, but has broken all of these habits.

New York, April 23.—New York is pictured as the modern Babylon, degraded below Berlin or Paris in the 51st annual report of the New York society for the Suppression of Vice, made public today. Licentious and salacious matted purveyed by stage, screen and book stands is held responsible.

The society advocates a state licensing law for theatrical producers and a clarification of the act against obscene literature.

Three Rock Falls Men Landed in Police Court

Leroy Anderson, Alva Goodrich and Barney Sollers of Rock Falls were arraigned before Justice J. O. Shaulis in police court last evening on charges of disturbing the peace and paid fines amounting to $3 and costs each. Mike Kinney of this city, arrested last evening, was fined $5 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge and in default of payment was sent to the county jail.

EXPERIMENTAL WORK TO BE CONDUCTED HERE TO BE WATCHED BY NATION

One of Three Cities Chosen for Survey to Determine Problems of Small Cities and Towns in the United States

The Dixon Chamber of Commerce takes pride in the starting of a project that they believe will be one of the biggest things ever attempted for the city of Dixon and entire community. Various committees have been working on this matter for the past five months. Various conferences have been held in Chicago and other places, getting everything in shape to start this big movement.

Dixon has been selected for experimental work that will be watched by the entire nation. A most intensive effort is under way to dig into and lay bare the roots of the economic, social and civic problems of the average American town and city so that each problem may be decided, studied and solved.

Three Illinois cities, Dixon, Rochelle and Sycamore have been chosen for the job. Labor, farm, retail, manufacturing and governmental organizations are co-operating and entering int othe work seriously and intensively. A control committee has been appointed in Dixon, which includes members from all organizations that are interested in the improvement of Dixon. The Control committee is as follows: George Boynton, chairman; R. S. Kline, O. H. Martin, H. A. Ahrens, Rev. P. H. Case, John E. Moyer, H. S. Dixon, Douglas Harvey, Harold B Woodlief, Louis Pitcher and Frank J. Cahill.

First Step in Dixon.

The first step will be a survey of the entire community in and around Dixon. The survey will be made by the Edwin G. Booz Surveys of Chicago, who are recognized as being one of the greatest survey companies in the United States.

The survey will include interviews with individual residents in this community, farmers, factory workers, social leaders, merchants, manufacturers, bankers and indeed every element in the entire community. The entire community radius will be included and one in every five families will be called upon and questioned on all problems pertaining to our economic, civic and social affairs that now may be regarded as possible obstacles to a bigger, better Dixon and to increase social and economic welfare in this community.

Behind the project is the thought, first that the general welfare, social and economic of every member of this community is essential to the welfare of the individual.

To Study Conditions.

Second, that the individual small or medium sized American town or city actually makes up the back bone of our country and must be developed and encouraged to main its growth for the welfare of the nation.

Consequently the entire aim of the enterprise is to study our business, our farms, our amusement, educational facilities, religious facilities and even our individuals, as well as all other social and economic forces to learn best how to insure the future well being of this district. For, instance, is recognized that the town anc the entire community surrounding it must be wholesome else the town cannot enjoy a prosperous and healthy growth. If there are reasons why our city are not prosperous, the survey will endeavor to uncover them. If there are things to be done that will be of direct or indirect benefit to the farmer in the outlying district, that will be uncovered, and if possible steps will be taken to see that the things necessary to bring about these results are started at once. If there are ways and means, which the manufacturers, the retail stores, the farmers and all individuals of the community can be brought into closer relationship with mutual benefit, these will be uncovered, and if possible brought about.

To Study Expenditures.

The Survey will endeavor to learn why all of the money in this community is not spent in this community. It will find out if prices are reasonable or unreasonable, if adequate service is being rendered by our various business concerns, if Dixon has adequate facilities for education, for recreation, for amusement.

The Survey as it is now regarded and planned will start next week. Free co-operation with the representatives of the Survey Company in the answering of the various questions asked by him is urged so that a true picture of this community may result. The survey, it is anticipated, should reveal among other things:

1.—How business may be improved in Dixon, industrial, civic and social ways, according to the views of the various inhabitants that are interviewed.

2.—What our farmers think should be done in this community as a whole to improve this welfare of the community from an educational, social, civic and economic viewpoint.

3.—What our inhabitants think is wrong with the civic and social live and how these wrongs can be righted.

4.—How the volume of business can be increasd.

5.—How transportation facilities can be improved.

6.—How more prosperity can be brought to the community.

7.—Why business is going away from Dixon that rightfully belongs to Dixon.

8.—If the Retail Stores in this community are giving adequate service, the prices are right and are prepared to serve the people in all ways.

Has Many Endorsments.

This Survey has the endorsement of many prominent and important men and organizations. Their views and suggestions will be told in the near futur eas the Survey approaches es completion. Each of these individuals in these organizations, as well as many others, will watch the progress of the survey and the entire program of work. Manufacturing associations plan to assist in the solution of all problems uncovered by the Survey. Governmental bodies will do their part, Retail organizations are planning to send experts in advertising, window display and stor keeping to assist the merchants to render better service to the community. Farm organizations will work hand in hand with the project, and all local organizations will do like wise.

To Uncover Problems.

The Survey will undoubtedly reveal many matters of vital interest to every one. First there should be the uncovering of certain problems which may be solved by the individual farmer, merchant, banker and manufacturer.

Secondly, the Survey will probably uncover matters that may be solved by cooperative effort on the part of the farmer, merchant, banker and manufacturer.

Again there will unquestionably be many problems that can be best solved by the outside agencies, which are cooperating in this movement.

To arrive at a basis for the Survey the business men, women's organizations, farm and labor groups have been asked to submit questions, which will be used together with others by the interviewers in making the Survey.

School For Business Men.

One great educational step has already been undertaken, so that it will be ready when the Survey is completed. That is an educational campaign for the business men of Dixon. Professor Edw. F. Gardner of the University of Wisconsin has been enlisted to conduct a school for community development, and this school will be maintained for a year and the merchants manufacturers, farmers, and everyone will be drilled in the elementary and fundamental principles of community development. Professor Gardner is recognized as being an authority along these lines and he is already at work on the courses and is laying out a plan of study.

The problem is being attacked on the grounds that their are similar problems in every American community and that there is an urgent need today for the decentralization of industry—that the small American Community is truly representative of this community and is vital to its well being—the work here is being undertaken with the understanding that it will serve as a pattern for all other American communities and that in order to succeed this enterprise must make as its aim the complete betterment of every factor that contributes towards the welfare of the individual in Dixon.

If wages are too low in the various factories, it is expected that this will be revealed. If the farmers are not securing adequate measures of cooperation from local communities it will be shown. If local residents are not buying sufficient produce from nearby farmers, if local merchants do not patronize one another, if farmers haven't proper facilities for the disposal of their products, if transportation is inadequate, if amusements facilities are inferior, if educational opportunities are not sufficiently broad, all of these and other similar fundamental matters will be revealed and if possible remedied.

Various committees will be appointed to handle each individual problem after it has been uncovered and classified under a general heading. The Survey will start shortly and when

ABANDON DRIVE BY SCHOOLS IN STORM RELIEF

Likely Action By Legislature Results in Abandonment.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Springfield, April 23—School teachers and pupils throughout Illinois were addressed in a letter by Francis G. Blair, state Superintendent of Public Instruction today, calling off the campaign for funds to rehabilitate the tornado stricken schools of Murphysboro, DeSoto and Gorham.

Mr. Blair's plan had been to raise $255,000 by contribution. Teachers were to be asked for one dollar each; high school pupils fifty cents each; and grade pupils ten cents each. Beside this the state university and normal schools were to be asked for a total of $10,000.

This plan was annulled because of legislation for rehabilitation of the schools, which is ready for introduction by Representative Waller, of Tamaroa.

Contributions already collected should be returned to the donors, Mr. Blair wrote. "There was every evidence," he wrote "that more than the amount asked would be contributed." He explained his action in part as follows:

"Some leading persons in the tornado swept district," Mr. Blair wrote, "fearing that the plan of collecting funds through the public schools to rebuild the schol buildings might not secure sufficient amount or that the funds thus assembled would not be available in time to complete the buildings by next September, were not willing to accept the collection plan as sufficient.

"They insisted that the only way to meet the critical situation promptly and adequately was a direct appropriation by the general assembly. Moreover, they feared that the attempt to raise the money through the public schools, might lessen their chances to secure the state appropriation."

Boys Getting Ready for Baseball Tourney

Baseball is now the game. For some time the boys have been getting their teams organized and out for early spring practice, getting them into shape for the opening game of the grade school baseball tournament which is conducted annually by the physical department of the Dixon Y. M. C. A. The figrst game of this tournament will be on the first of May, the details of which will be announced later. On Friday April 24, at 4 o'clock the captains and managers of the grade school baseball teams will meet in the physical department office at the Y to perfect plans for this tournament. All teams should be represented at this meeting.

Check of Missing Women to Solve Late Mystery

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, April 23.—A check of missing persons was made by the police today in their search for a clue that might identify the body of a woman found without head, arms and legs in a catch basin near a golf links Tuesday night.

Measurements of the body were compared with those of a list of 49 girls and women reported missing between July 1 and Dec. 31, 1924. The condition of the body indicated death occurred a year ago, the police said.

Willis Reigle of Franklin Grove was in Dixon on business Wednesday.

Max Bradshaw of Compton was in Dixon on business Wednesday.

F. COLLINS' BODY FREED FROM PRISON

Had Been Pinioned by Small Rock: Taken from Cave Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Cave City, Ky., April 23—Floyd Collin's body today was free from the underground trap where he met slow death two months ago while a nation feverishly waited for word that did not come, that he had been saved alive.

Late yesterday, miners engaged in a second effort to release his body succeeded in tunneling under a huge limestone rock in the path of a new lateral from the seventy foot level and came upon the body. Instead of encountering a mammoth rock supposed to be pinning the body, they found a stone of but 75 to 100 pounds weight across his ankles. Morsels of food, rope, chisels and hammers carried to him during the early days of his entrapment were found by his side. It was the work of but a short time to clear away debris and soon the miners had drawn the body to the foot of the shaft.

Their efforts beat possible disaster only by a few seconds, for almost immediately afterward the lateral where they had been working caved in and slid a hundred feet below into a dark pit. This substantiated Collin's remarks to rescuers who crawled to him in the days of his early imprisonment that a deep pit was right behind him.

Body Wrapped in Cotton.

The body, according to W. H. Hunt, engineer in charge of the work was in good condition. It will be wrapped in cotton to prevent exposure to the air and hoisted to the surface this morning.

Collins lost his life while exploring Sand Cave, hoping to find beautiful cave formations which would attract tourists. It was while returning from a trip into the pit into which part of the lateral fell yesterday, tht a boulder fell and caught him, forming a trap from which he never emerged alive.

When a hearse from Cave City arrived, J. S. Smith, one of the miners aiding in the recovery of the body, asked the group to kneel while a prayer of gratitude for recovery of the body was offered by the Rev. R. B. Neal of Bowling Green. Brought to an undertaking establishment, the body will lay in state for several days, before funeral services are held.

Shetter Jury Still Out, No Verdict is in Sight

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Sycamore, Ill., April 23—The jury in the trial of E. A. Shetter, DeKalb jeweler, formerly of Dixon, charged with manslaughter, still was deliberating at 11 a. m., today, 15 hours after the jurors received the case. Shetter's automobile killed William Jay of Moline on the Lincoln Highway on September 21, 1924. The prosecution charged Shetter was intoxicated at the time, but the defense contended that he had taken only two drinks of grape juice wine.

The case went to the jury at 8 o'clock last night. At 11 p. m., the jurors were locked up for the night, but continued their deliberations until early today.

At 1:45 the jury still was out and there was no indication when a verdict might be returned. It was rumored the jury stood 10 for acquital and two for conviction.

Chenoweth, dropped dead at the latter's home at 10:30 last night, following an automoble ride with the son's family. He complained of feeling tired when he returned home and retired to his room. He sat down on the bed when he dropped over dead.

Senator Wheeler Runs Out of Witnesses Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Great Falls, Mont., April 23—The trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler was halted temporarily today when the defense ran out of witnesses and unwillingness on the part of the government to agree to a stipulation on remaining evidence prevented the Montana senator's counsel from resting its case.

Second Body is Recovered from Ruins of Peoria Fire

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Peoria, Ill., April 23—The body of George Wonder, 63, night watchman at the Isaac Walker Hardware Store who was trapped in the ruins when the building collapsed during the storm of early Sunday morning, was found this morning in such a position as to indicate that he was suffocated to death. This is the second body to be recovered.

Harry Manges and Miss Bollman Wed

A marriage of much interest to Dixon friends and relatives took place Tuesday, April 21st at 12:30 o'clock at the home of the bride in Wheatmand, Ia. At this time Harry Manges of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Manges of 1049 Highland avenue, and Miss Clara Bollman, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William Bollman, were married. The bride's father, Rev. Wm. Bollman, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical church of Wheatmand officiated at the impressive service.

The young couple were attended by Miss Mary Chandler, who is dietitian at the Dixon hospital, and Ralph Matthews, as maid of honor and best man. It was a very quiet wedding ,the only guests being the attendants and the bridegroom's parents.

After the ceremony and congratulations a delicious wedding luncheon was served, the decorations being bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Manges will make their home for the present at 1049 Highland avenue.

Mr. Manges who is proprietor of the Tire & Battery Shop on Galena avenue, is a progressive young business man, of genial personality and hosts of friends who congratulate him on the happy event. His bride who is well known to Dixon people is also most popular here. She has been night supervisor of nurses at the Dixon public hospital for some time and is a most proficient nurse. She is a graduate of the Jane Lamb hospital at Clinton, Ia., and since her residence in Dixon, has by her winsome personality and her efficiency in her chosen profession, made many friends here. The Telegraph joins in extending best wishes to the young people.

IN POLAND—

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zalecki and three children, who have been residing at 510 Seventh street left today for Chicago and after visiting there until Sunday will leave then for New York City and on Wednesday will sail on the Aquatania for Europe where they will spend the summer.

The Zalecki family anticipate a pleasant summer's visit. Their destination is Poland.

WAR MOTHERS TO MEET TOMORROW—

The War Mothers will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Strub, 214 W. Fifth street at 2:30. The delegates will give their reports at this meeting and a good attendance is desired.

ROOTLESS MODERNS.

A discouraged college professor, writing in a current magazine, is saddened by the present student generation's detachment from the past. He says:

"Much of their early education has been apparently purposed to divorce the present from the past. In history they realize no ancestry, no precedent, no foundation. They look on both the custom and the event of the past with indifference. They regard all that preceded this glorified modern time as merely a bridging over to it, now negligible and decayed. The passion of the past is largely gone from the schools. Surely it is the business of a college to help man to place himself among the years of the world. But my students, alas, prefer to think of themselves as rootless. And rootless as puffballs I fear many of them may be."

The same attitude is to be found outside the schools. The fathers and mothers of those boys and girls in school have the same rootlessness. It is unfortunate if many persons are losing the thrill that comes with the study of far-away and long-ago things, and if their understanding of the present is not to be enriched by any knowledge of its inheritance from the past.

But a remedy is in sight. More is being learned about the past right now than has ever been known before. Popular magazines carry articles about the discoveries being made in ancient tombs and in recently disclosed buried cities and civilizations in all parts of the world. Movie reels and daily newspapers spread the new found facts. The flippant things who think that nothing counts but their own material present are finding themselves inevitably reminded of a marvelous past in fascinating ways which are bound to recapture their attention and give them something for their roots to grow on.

THE MECHANICAL COUNT.

An Italian gentleman in New York, who calls himself Count Bossini, and who has been functioning as a waiter, announces that he is in the market for a rich American wife. Almost any woman will do, he suggests, if she has the money and isn't "too offensively vulgar."

Not that the count is mercenary. He has had an engineering education, he explains, and has ideas about electrical apparatus and crude-oil engines that he wants to work out. He finds that after ten hours in the restaurant, he hasn't the energy to do himself justice at his work bench, and he also needs better equipment.

So here's a chance for some wealthy widow or daughter—if she isn't too vulgar.

The waiting count seems to have real mechanical ingenuity, whatever may be thought of his title. He has a roomful of hand-made devices, one of which is an electrical alarm clock which prepares a cup of coffee at any desired hour, then rings and keeps on ringing until the sleeper takes the coffee and drinks it.

There, surely, is something theworld needs. An alarm clock that hands you a cup of hot coffee which it wakes you in the morning is more endurable. But it would be just like a genius like that, if he got the wife he wants, to give the clock a rest and let her bring him the coffee.

CROSSINGS.

Motoring weather is here. So is the season for grade crossing accidents.

The average person is awed by such disasters as the recent Illinois storm, yet gives but scant attention to grade crossing dangers.

Yet almost three times as many persons were killed in grade crossing accidents in 1924 as were killed by the tornado. A total of 2139 lost their lives.

We can do nothing to prevent storms. And what we do to prevent grade crossing accidents is all too little, largely because, being scattered, it is difficult to center the public mind on them.

SAFER.

Los Angeles reports 12 traffic deaths in January of this year as opposed to 23 in January 1924.

This decline is believed due in large part to observance of the jay-walking and traffic ordinances, which is encouraging news.

Traffic is the most serious problem of our big cities—traffic and human safety. It is a problem that cannot be solved by legislation alone, however, but only by a combination of laws and education.

The sensible way is to begin at the root and incorporate safety instruction in all school courses.

STOMACHS.

Babe Ruth's condition serves to bring home the fact that many of the rest of us are mistreating our stomachs.

We persist in pouring therein an excess of soft drink gas—thereby extending the digestive organ. We swallow food in big chunks, leaving the muscles of the stomach to do what the teeth should have done. We eat much hardly digestive food, and little digestive stuff.

And most of us eat too much. Ask your doctor if that isn't so. Also ask him how many of his patients over 50 suffer from digestive diseases.

The most offensive thing about a liar is his assumption that you have little enough sense to belive him.

TOM SIMS SAYS:

In a Boston fire, things were carried out by three neighbor girls in pajamas, so now no house in Boston is safe.

A Los Angeles innocent bystander is expected to recover.

Bakers struck in New York, 10,000 of them. They wanted more dough of one kind or less of another.

People are so impatient. In New Jersey a bank was robbed by a paying teller who couldn't wait until he became cashier.

Perhaps a baby born in the Grand Central Station in New York will grow up and become a hobo or a railroad president.

And 80,000 elevator men in New York plan to strike, but other varieties of uplifters never tire of their work.

St. Louis safe blower got only $26,—which is poor pay for an expert.

And a New York insurance agent has lived 80 years without talking off either one of his arms.

Man got arrested for beating up a movie usher in Seattle, proving we must suppress some desires.

The world gets better. We know a man who is so honest he pays his doctor bills.

If these flivver airplanes become popular there will be a fortune for someone in digging storm cellars.

Don't be too hasty in slapping mosquitoes this summer. Look first it may be a flivver airplane.

Some girls are so old-fashioned they wear clothes and play mah jongg.

Women will not be men's equal until there is a bride shortage instead of a bridegroom shortage.

April showers bring new cuss words.

Who said that Romance is gone out of the world?

Is it piracy? The rum fleet seeks recruits. Is it exploration? The Roosevelt expedition is retracing the steps of Marco Polo; two rival air parties will this summer chart the polar wastes, and another Albatros is sounding the Sargasso Sea. Is it Indian fighting? Join the marines, and take part, some day, in suppressing revolution in some tropical American port. Or, if you have imagination enough to realize that pioneering the new is quite as romantic as resurveying the old, the whole boundless universe is now before us.

Every radio "fan" is dealing with forces unknown a decade ago, and the mind of man has penetrated the secrets outside the universe and inside the atom more in this generation than in all the previous ages.

Next will be the telephone to hear the thunders of the sun. "What use are eclipses?" a correspondent asked. "They helped us to find helium, to make air travel safe," said the editor. "They helped meet the first plea of childhood and the last of manhood, 'I want to know,'" said the astronomer. Either answer points the way of Romance.

It is reported from Rome that the Italian government is considering recognizing the independent temporal sovereignty of the pope over the Vatican grounds, thus establishing his temporal status as a foreign prince over a small but separate territory.

The purpose, of course, is to make it possible for the pope to renounce his self-imposed imprisonment, which has been since 1871 a constant embarrassment to both church and state in Italy.

As a foreign prince, the pope could visit Rome, as many other foreign sovereigns have done, under the protection of the Italian government.

As a claimant to the throne of Rome itself, the pope has felt that he could not accept that protection without impliedly renouncing his claim. The recognized temporal sovereignty over even a small enclave state may make a compromise which both can accept, and so end a temporal situation which in the nature of things cannot last forever.

Certainly the usefulness of the pope as the spiritual leader of his people would be facilitated by the greater freedom of movement which a settlement of the temporal question would give him.

SLOGANS AID GOOD BUSINESS

"Everything is a slogan, and of all the bunk things in America, the slogan is the champ," says the eminent philosopher, Will Rogers.

Doubtless, Will is right. At least, it is slogans that give us taxes ostensibly to cinch the rich that actually burden the poor and parties ostensibly to represent principles but actually to hunt for jobs.

But it is doubtful if slogans are any more characteristic than false analogies. The commonest of these is the assumption that whatever is good in business is thereore good in all other human activities.

Because autocracy of managament and division of labor are so useful in industry, we try them in citizenship and education, where they defeat their own purpose.

Even in the athletic side of education, we develop a few champions, and the rest of us do our athletics from the bleachers. In politics, we let a few put up the tickets, and then imagine the contest is between them. And we confer all power on the governor, president or mayor, because that is the best way in business.

Some day we may learn that the best sport is the one in which everybody takes part personally; that the duties of citizenship cannot be delegated, and that freedom is worth some sacrifice of efficiency in government. That a thing is "good business" is no proof that it is a good way to do anything else.

KICK YOUR DOG, BUT DON'T DYE IT

To the Oriental, the dog is a thing of contempt. That is perhaps the reason why there is nothing good about dogs in the Bible.

But it is doubtful if even Oriental contempt ever put the dog so low as the newest reported fashion from Paris, of insisting that the pet dog be the same color as the costume it is worn with.

They will be changing husbands next, from fat to slim to match the changing styles of "hilhouette."

Adog is nothing if not an individual. That is precisely the quality that makes dogs so human. To depersonalize a dog is a worse insult than to abuse it.

Kick your dog if you must. It may brutalize you, but it can scarcely spoil the dog's hereditary character.

But don't subject it to the indignity of being dyed to "match a costume."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

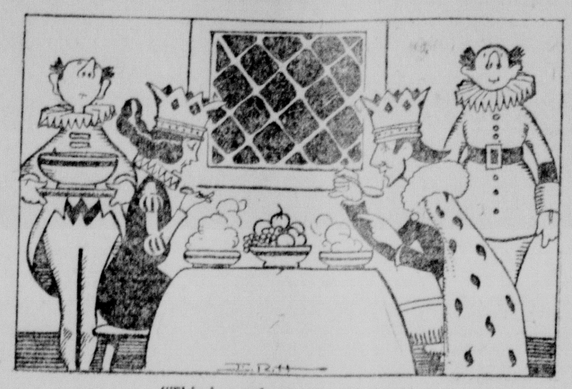
NO. 16—THE KING AND QUEEN DINE



"This is good so up," said the king.

When the King and Queen of Beanstalk Land arrived at the Royal Palace in their golden coach, the cook told the butler to tell the councilor to tell the lord high commissioner to tell their Royal Highnesses that dinner was ready.

"Come right away, then," said the queen to the king. "Don't wait to take off your crown. I can't bear cold soup."

So the royal pair went straight to the dining room with their crowns on.

Who should be hiding behind those very crowns but Nancy and Nick and Mister Whizz. Nancy and Nick were hiding in the king's crown and Mister Whizz was hiding in the queen's crown—and someone else was hiding, too! Snitcher Snatch, the goblin, was hiding under the folds of the queen's high gold lace collar.

The king sat down and the queen sat down, and the lord high something or other pushed in their chairs, while the butler ladled the hot soup out of a big golden soup toureen, as big as a washing tub.

"Sup!" went the king loudly, tasting his soup.

"Sup!" went the queen, also quite loudly.

"This is good soup," said the king. "Marvelous soup!" said the queen. "I shall have to give the cook a raise in wages. Ten cents a week more isn't a bit too much for anyone who can made such delicious soup as this. Sup!"

"Sup!" went the king.

They were so interested in their soup that their crowns kept slipping.

"We'll soon be in the soup ourselves if we stay here," whispered Nick. "We'll have to get out of this."

So they slipped down to the table and hid in a dish of fruit without being noticed. Mister Whizz managed to get to the vase of flowers in the center of the enormous table and hid in a tulip.

But Snitcher Snatch stayed where he was, under the gold lace in the queen's collar—planning mischief.

Pretty soon he took a pinch of snuff out of the magic snuff-box and blew.

The queen was about to sup another spoonful of soup when she sneezed with all her might. Off flew her crown and the soup flew all over the dining room, and some of it got into the king's eye.

"Fine manners you have!" roared he reaching for his napkin.

Just then some of the snuff got up his own nose.

"Aa-a-chooo!" went the king. Off flew his crown, and his whole plate of soup flew in all directions.

"Fine enough manners for you to copy," retored the queen. "My dress is ruined."

"I'm sorry, my dear," apologized the king. "That's the worst sneeze I've sneezed since I had the influenza."

Which shows that you can't enjoy anything—not even a sneeze if you are not in the right state of mind for it.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Whoso keepeth his mouth and his tongue keepeth his soul from troubles.—Prov. 21:23.

Speak little and well, if you wish to be considered as possessing merit. —From the French.

Is Today Your Birth Anniversary?

THURSDAY, APRIL 23—If today is your birthday you are too fond of excitement, constantly craving stimulation in one form or another. Too often it leads you into trouble. You are a great talker, but generally have something interesting to say. You probably will marry young, but your married life will be marked by trouble as well as joy.

Jes' Settin'

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

JES' settin' and fishin', and fishin' and settin'—it's fun, whether luck comes or not. Jes' frettin' and wishin', and wishin' and frettin', o'er what you will get, or have got.

The call of the stream kinda makes living seem a thing that's worth while, after all. And wise is the man who just does and who can bustle out there and answer the call.

Just who must we thank that there's always a bank where a fellow can loll at his ease? Just think what it means when you loaf mid the scenes where there's water and grasses and trees.

A cricket may "crick" in a voice that is thick, but it sounds like a lullaby tune. And even the waves any fellow enslaves for you'll bow to their charms pretty soon.

Go on, little world, run along while we're curled on a bank as an open air guest. We're as happy and free as a fellow can be—jes' settin' and fishin', at rest.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON OF AMBOY WOMAN'S CLUB HELD TUESDAY

Members Came to Dixon for Lunch and Meeting that Day

Amboy — Thirty-eight members of the Amboy Woman's club attended the annual luncheon which was served Tuesday in Dixon at Miss Bread'a. A delicious four course luncheon was served after which the vice president, Mrs. Edith Fell in behalf of the club presented the president, Mrs. Braman, a bouquet of pink roses in appreciation of her services for the past year. Mrs. Braman responded very graciously. Yearly reports from all officers and chairmen of committees were given. The president also appointed the committees for the next year and expressed a desire that all members do their share toward making next year a successful one. The delegates to the district convention at Savannah, May 7 and 8 were elected as follows: Mrs. D. L. Braman and Mrs. J. A. Vaupel with Mrs. W. P. Barnes and Mrs. Paul Doty as alternates. This will be the last meeting of the club this year until the picnic which will be held at Green River park in June.

Mrs. W. P. Barnes went to Hinsdale Wednesday morning where she will remain as a patient in the sanitarium for a short time.

Miss Cornelia Badger returned Saturday from California where she spent the winter.

Eno Aschenbrenner, John Vaupel and William Eller are serving on the grand jury at Dixon this week.

The Baptist ladies will serve dinner to the public next Wednesday noon, April 29.

Miss Ruth Leech returned Sunday to Brookfield after spending a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Leech.

Miss Frieda Bushman spent Sunday in Sterling.

Eno Aschenbrenner was in Dixon on business Monday.

Mrs. Fred Merrow will be hostesses to the Baptist H. T. Circle Friday evening, April 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frye and baby spent Sunday in Forreston and Freeport.

Mrs. Charles Paddock and Mrs. Andrew Meyer were Dixon visitors Tuesday.

Miss Merle Faiver who is attending school at Lyons, Ia., spent last week with her father, Louis Faiver.

Mrs. Sam Thompson came home Friday evening from a week's visit with her mother in Yorkville.

Mrs. Wayne D. Hanna spent Saturday visiting in Freeport.

A. E. Willey who is now employed in Chicago, was here to spend the week end with his family.

Harold Leake is now working as bookkeeper in the Amboy State Bank. Mrs. Leake is assisting in the office of the Amboy Oil & Gas Company.

About Marketing Hens Too Early

By Horton B. Green

Observations during the current month convince me that too many laying hens are being marketed for so early in the season. Many coops of hens are being sold to Dixon dealers and meat markets that are laying plentiful. This is a very successful way for the farmers to lose money on his chickens. April is the one month when every species of fowls, birds, fishes and reptiles lay, if they ever lay and the mature hen that was wintered over did not get through her molt and get her new coat of feathers so as to begin laying until about March first, so that she is at her best during all of the month of April.

At a recent supper served by one of our churches 25 chickens were used, 15 of which were hens. From these 15 hens, eight eggs were taken that had hard shells, six eggs with soft shells and all the hens were literally full of eggs in various stages of development. Eggs are bringing two cents each now, wholesale. Fair layers will produce an average of five eggs a week giving you ten cents a week per hen. It takes one and one-half pounds of grain any kind, to feed a hen a week but on the farm she gets her living from the waste about the premises, so that though you feed high priced feed the cost will not be over two cents a week, leaving a net profit of eight cents per laying hen.

After about the tenth of May, many of the hens that have layed well during the winter and early spring will stop laying and a good many of them are through for the season or will lay a few eggs and then become broody. These should then be sorted out and marketed before the prices go down. Other hens will lay on until July and then quit while the best layers will lay right on until moulting time, which may be prolonged until November by proper feeding. Don't sell the layer but do not harbor the star boarder.

A GIRLLESS PLAY

Rome—The "bald-headed" row in a local theater probably will be replaced with a row of bobbed-haired flappers, as a new play will be produced without a single female character.

Army experts found that the best gas masks could be made out of the charcoal resulting from burned cocoanut shells. This substance absorbs more gas than any other found.

The custom of lifting the bride over the threshold of her husband's home originated in Scotland, where it was believed some mishap would befall her if she stepped on the stoop.

DISTRICT MEET OGLE CO. I. O. O. F. HELD IN POLO

205 Members Attended Meeting in That City Monday

Polo—Miss Maud Dodge spent Wednesday in Freeport.

Miss Mary Wales returned the first of the week from Washington, D. C., where she had spent the winter with her nephew Horatio Wales and family.

The Missionary society of the Christian church met at the church Wednesday afternoon. The program was in charge of Mss Mary Marteeney. After the program a delicious lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw and Mrs. W. H. Prince spent Tuesday afternoon in Freeport.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Rowland spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Chicago.

The Would-Be-Tourists club had an all day meeting and scramble dinner at the home of Mr. Frank Moore.

P. M. France was a Dixon caller Wednesday.

The Ogle county district meeting of the I. O. O. F. was held in the Polo lodge room Monday eveneng. There were 205 members present including representatives from Freeport, Dixon, Mt. Morris, Oregon, Stillman Valley, Leaf River and Forreston. Seven members received the third degree and the work was put on by the Freeport team. Talks for the good of the order were given by several visiting members. After the meeting lunch consisting of sandwiches, pickles, coffee, doughnuts, wafers, ice cream, was served. Mr. Fredreickson of Mt. Morris was elected district deputy grand master.

John Bracken of Milledgeville was a business caller here Tuesday.

Mesdames L. A. Beard and W. G. Unger were Dixon callers Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Barnhart of Milledgeville came Tuesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Duffey.

Judge Leon Zick was a business caller in Dixon Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Geeting of Chicago were guests at the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Geeting from Friday until Sunday.

Miss Minnie McPherson of Sterling spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McPherson.—K.

New York—A storm sweeps over the city and the great buildings reflect a ghostly green. Then they are laved in white and the windows appear as quicksilver. The storm passes and the shining buildings glow with a delicate pink from the setting sun, while the distant sky of the east forms a back-drop of blue. Gene Cohn, the writer who tries hard to be a cynic, sits at his typewriter watching the changing scene. "I thought Belasco was the greatest master of lighting effects," he drolls, "but this fellow God is better."

Says Andrew Tombes to Lou Holtz in a current musical comedy 'Come on, I want you to dance."

Holtz: "I can't dance, I'm a little stiff from bowling."

Tombes: "I don't care where you're from, I want you to dance."

Jokes in the written word are not nearly so good as when spoken. I made note of ten jokes told by Holtz and Tombes, thinking that they might make entertaining reading in this column. When I set them down in type they lose point and color. After all, a joke is only as good as its telling.

A newcomer wrote back to friends in Wilmington, N. C., "Having arrived in this city of broken hearts and fenders—".

An Indianian who recently called at the office, said that future excavators and historians will refer to New York as "The City of Truncated Pyramids."

Passing mention was made here several days back of a book called "Are Women People?" It should have been "Are Parents People?" However, the error was slight. The question still remains, "Are Fathers Parents?"

Exercise for those who take it by walking in Central Park has been systematized by the park board. Blue, red, yellow and white arrows are painted on the walks. Each renotes a route requiring a certain period of time. Thus when you are acquainted with the various routes you can pace yourself to cover a certain distance in a predetermined length of time. And many office workers lay set for themselves a schedule of daily walks by following the arrows.

How many people are there in the world who are able to earn comfortable livings simply because they were born twins? I hear that Thurston, the magician, is advertising for twin girls for one of his stage turns. Twin dancers in musical comedies are paid big salaries and but few of them prove to be top-notch dancers.

"Why! He's Nothing But Skin and Bones"

"Quit kidding me, Agnes; when I get ready to land a man he's got to be a real man with plenty of good healthy flesh on his bones."

"Of course, I dance with Ed; He's a good enough fellow and I just feel sorry for him, but no skinny, hollow cheeked, spindle shanked lath is going to sail the voyage of life with me."

Cheer up, Ed—things aren't as bad as they look to you right now. Many hundreds of skinny, gaunt, emaciated men looked even worse than you do till someone told them about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets (the new way to take Cod Liver Oil) and how it would put pounds of good firm healthy flesh on their bones in just a few weeks.

Nothing like these health creating, weight producting tablets for skinny, underweight men, as thousands can testify. Start to take them today—60 tablets—60 cents at Rowlands Pharmacy, Dixon and Rochelle,- or any real druggist anywhere in North or South America.

And listen: If they don't put 5 pounds of good flesh on you in 30 days, get your money back—that's fair enough, but be sure—very sure that you get McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—the original and genuine.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

John Lumpkins, Dayton, Ohio, says: "Come to 7 Carrie St., and I will show you 25 pieces of gravel that passed after taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). Had to get up 15 times at night for two years. Alright Now." Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder like Epsom Salts do the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost 2 cents each. Sold at leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.

Long Weary 3 Years of Suffering

Remarkable Case of Woman Saved When She Had Almost Given Up Hope

For 3 years, Mrs. Sadie Thiesing suffered untold agonies from gallstones. Once "It looked as though I would never be well again. For days I could not keep one bit of food or even water on my stomach. I could not sleep at night. Could not find any relief. Then I was advised to try Sys-Tone.

"I have never found anything that has done me as much good as Sys-Tone. I gained 3 pounds in 2 weeks, enjoy three big meals a day and haven't a bit of trouble after eating. Sleep fine at night. My nerves are in fine shape and I feel like a new woman. Sys-Tone sure did surprise me and I can recommend it to anyone after what it has done for me."

A Scientific Discovery of Amazing Benefit

Sys-Tone is the scientific discovery of a leading physician who prescribed it for years to restore health and strength. A wonder-working tonic which calms the nerves, regulates bowel and liver, induces peaceful sleep, and builds up weak, run-down systems. Sys-Tone has effected complete recovery of health in many chronic, long-standing cases. The very first bottle will bring a noticeable improvement. To prove our faith, we guarantee that it will, or money returned.

Also Sys-To-Lax, the perfect laxative for adults and children. Your druggist has both.

"61" FLOOR VARNISH

ROUGH treatment for the naughty boy, but "61" Floor Varnish stands the running, scuffing, stamping and scampering of kiddies—and even Father's big foot holds no terrors for "61" because "61" is just as wear-resistant as it is water-resistant. And it will stand any water test you care to give it. Durable as "61" is on floors and linoleum, it lasts even longer on furniture and woodwork. The beautiful woodstain colors stain and varnish in one stroke of the brush without showing laps, streaks or brush marks. A colo card is waiting for you at our store.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, pretty flapper, marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling young lawyer. Gloria's idea of marriage is plenty of fun and fine clothes . . . and no work or children.

Dick borrows MAGGIE, his mother's maid, to teach Gloria to cook. Gloria refuses to learn.

STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor whom Gloria once loved, calls on her. Dick sees him leaving. Gloria lies to Dick, telling him that Wayburn was an interior decorator. Dick stays home ill for a few days. While he is at work with his secretray, MISS BRIGGS, Gloria plans a party with Wayburn as one of the guests.

When the actor arrives, Dick instantly recognizes him. During the evening Gloria sees Wayburn making love to MRS. MYRA GAIL. Recklessly she drinks too much and faints away while dancing with DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, whose wife, MAY, is in love with JIM CAREWE. The party breaks up when LOLA HOUGH scolds her husband, BILL, for indiscriminate "petting." Later Maggie, disgusted, quits her job.

Next day Dick hears Gloria and Wayburn talking on the phone. He asks Gloria about Wayburn. Gloria sticks to her lie about the interior decorator.

That night she and Dick go downtown for dinner. While Gloria is telling Dick that she has hired RANGHILD SWANSON, a maid, at $18 a week, she sees Wayburn watching her from across the restaurant.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

WAYBURN was not alone.

Facing him across the table, with her back toward Glory, sat a women in a gray suit.

Was it Myra Gail?

. . . Presently the woman half turned in her chair. Glory saw that it was not Myra.

This woman was blond. She seemed strangely familiar, too. Where had Glory seen her before?

. . . Then suddenly she remembered. The woman was an actress in Stan's company at the theater . . . Sonya Chotek!

The waiter took away the soup plates and served Dick and Glory with veal cutlets and creamed cauliflower.

Glory tried to eat. . . . But she couldn't. There was a lump in her throat, and her eyes were full of hot, jealous tears.

Oh, why did she let Stan Wayburn make her feel this way? . . . Why should it make her angry and jealous to see him with another woman?

Glory gave her plate a little push, and laid down her fork.

"I don't believe I'm hungry after all," she said to Dick. He looked up in surprise.

"Well, you sure are some kid!" he exclaimed. "You drag me 'way down here and order a three-dollar meal . . . and now you can't eat it!"

"I know . . . I'm sorry," Glory said.

She sat there miserable while Dick finished his meal in puzzled silence.

"What do you want to do . . . go to a movie?" he asked as he helped her on with her coat. Glory shook her head.

"Let's go home. I'm dead tired," she said. She was, suddenly. Her spirit drooped like spent wings.

She wanted to get out of that hateful restaurant . . . away from the sight of Stan and his Sonya Chotek!

She remembered a line of poetry she had heard somewhere . . . "Life is a headache in a noisy street."

And so it was! . . . It hurt unbearably at times. Now, for instance. . . .

• • •

EARLY the next morning Ranghild Swanson knocked on the kitchen door.

Glory heard her and ran downstairs to let her in.

"I came to start work, even if it is Sunday," Ranghild said. "But I've been to early church already."

"The better the day the better the deed, Ranghild," Glory told her, laughingly.

The very sight of Ranghild cheered her up. She was so blond and smiling that she seemed to have brought the morning sunshine into the kitchen with her.

And she could cook! Even Dick had to admit that the cherry pie she baked for dinner was as good as any that Maggie had ever made.

"But we can't afford her," he said to Glory. "You'll have to look around and find someone who'll work for us for about $10 a week. That's my limit, absolutely!"

She sat in a comfortable chair while the saleswoman brought in dress after dress.

Gloria didn't answer. She walked around the table to Dick and kissed him with little, light coaxing kisses.

"All right, go ahead and vamp me all you want to!" Dick bantered. "But I mean what I say all the same. . . . We've just got to cut down on our household expenses. A few more weeks like this last one would land me in the poorhouse!"

• • •

The next morning Glory could hardly wait for Dick to leave for the office. The moment he was out of the house, she ran upstairs and dressed for the street.

An hour later she was strolling down Michigan avenue.

Behind their plate-glass fronts, the store windows bloomed like gardens, so filled with color were they.

• • •

HERE a hat perched airily on its stand above a rainbow pile of imported handkerchiefs . . . there a beaded bag caught the light, like a bit cut from some rare old tapestry.

Glory sighed with joy . . . she would have that very bag in a few minutes!

She opened the swinging doors of the store and went straight to the business office.

"I am Mrs. Richard Gregory Junior, and I would like to open a charge account," she said calmly to the hard-eyed credit manager.

She gave Dick's office address and the name of his bank.

"All right, Mrs. Gregory," the credit man said cordially, after he had looked up Dick's references. "The store is yours. And we'll do everything in our power to please you."

This was the only way to shop! . . . No bargain-hunting, no counting out change! Simply to ask for what you wanted, and order it sent home!

"I'd like to see afternoon dresses . . . something really good," Glory said to the saleswoman who came toward her across the gown department.

She sat in a comfortable chair while the saleswoman brought in dress after dress. Finally Glory chose three . . . a peacock blue, a black velvet, and an old-rose crepe.

"I'll try those three on, and see which one suits me best," she said.

They were all wonderfully becoming.

Glory couldn't make up her mind which one to buy. She was in delicious despair.

"Madam is lovely in any of the gowns!" the saleswoman declared. She knew her business, that saleswoman!

"Why does not madam take them all?" she asked carelessly. "It is not every day that she will find three so perfect gowns!"

Glory hesitated.

"But the price!" she breathed.

"Only three hundred dollars for the three of them?" the saleswoman asked in surprise. "But that is nothing! They were twice that much at the beginning of the season! They are a bargain . . . those dresses!"

"All right, I'll take them all," Glory said suddenly. She felt that she simply couldn't go away and leave one of those three wonderful dresses in the shop for some other woman. . . . They belonged to her! They were made for her! All three of them!

• • •

"OF course, I don't really need a hat . . ." Glory thought, as she drifted into the millinery department. But down in the bottom of her mind she knew that she was going to buy one.

"I'd like a dress hat . . . something with plumes, I think," she said to the white-haired woman who came forward to serve her.

The saleswoman shook her marcelled head.

"No plumes," she said smiling, "for so young a face. We must keep you very simple. . . . Won't you have this chair, please?" She glided away.

Glory watched her opening and shutting drawers and cupboards.

In a few minutes she came back with a wide-brimmed hat of creamy satin.

"Here's madam's hat," the milliner said, setting it on Glory's red-gold head. "Simple but smart!"

. . . The saleswoman was right! It was Glory's hat. She graced it.

"How much is it?" Glory asked.

"Fifty-five dollars," the milliner answered in the tone she might have used in saying "two for a nickel."

Fifty-five dollars! Glory wondered what Dick would say if she paid that much for a hat that hadn't a scrap of trimming on it. . . .

In the end she took it—charged it to Dick.

• • •

NEXT Glory bought the beaded bag she had seen in the show-window. It was $30.

"Charge it and send it," she said. . . . They were like wishing rings, these charge accounts. You simply ordered what you wanted . . murmured "Charge it" . . . and it was yours!

On her way out of the store Glory stopped at the toilet-goods counter.

Idly she picked up lipsticks and eyebrow pencils in their silver holders. She needed neither.

Her lips were a natural scarlet. And the black lashes, planted thick around her eyes, gave her a "made-up" look, as it was.

. . . Still, she could always use face cream and scent.

"I want some perfume," she said to the pretty clerk who came to wait upon her. "Not rose or violet. Something spicy and oriental."

Finally she bought two kinds . . . mimosa and lotus-flower.

After that she bought nail polish, night-cream, bath powder, and a large wooden bowl of elder-flower soap that would float in the bathtub.

"Twenty-two dollars," said the saleswoman, adding up the cost of these luxuries.

"Charge it," Glory said.

The noonday whistles were blowing when Glory left the store. The street was filled with business girls on their way to lunch, their faces gay and fresh as flowers.

And to think that only a few weeks ago she had been one of them! Why, it had taken her months to earn as much money as she had spent that morning on a few clothes!

How long would it take Dick to earn that $400?

Glory knew that he wasn't half as rich as she had once supposed he was. . . .

Suddenly she was frightened at what she had done. She made up her mind to telephone the store to say that she didn't want the things she had just bought. . . . No, by Jinks, she did want them! And Dick would just have to pay for them, by some hook or crook!

• • •

GLORY hurried home and waited for her purchases to be delivered.

Late in the afternoon they came.

She rushed up to her room and tried on the three new dresses . . . one after the other, quickly, before Dick should come home.

Glory leaned across the dressing-table and smiled at her dazzling self in the glass.

Then she heard the sound of Dick's latchkey in the door downstairs!

And before she had had time to take off the new blue dress she was trying on, Dick was in the doorway.

His eyes swept the room, from the dresses slung over the foot of his wife's bed to the wrapping paper that littered the rug.

Then he looked at Glory with a question in his eyes. She was speechless.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take, for example, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

Eczema

OH! The joy of a peaceful, restful night. What a wonderful "up and going" feeling follows such a night of undisturbed slumber.

Oh! What tortures—what agony—what despair—goes with the nights where eczema and other skin diseases hold power and drive away rest and peaceful slumber. For under the cover of darkness like crafty beings of the underworld these eruptions work their most serious havoc.

S.S.S. is the established conqueror of these annoying skin diseases. S.S.S. drives these ever disturbing elements from your system—elements that carry in their wake—lack of energy—undermining health! You may try in vain to get rid of them by using salves, lotions, washes, all to no purpose. You can't do it that way—the seat of the trouble lies deeper—impure blood trying to throw off poisons through the tender skin.

S.S.S. purifies the blood. It aids Nature in creating new red-blood-cells by the million! Blood-cells that send new rich blood coursing through your system. Red blood that drives away eczema—drives away pimples, blackheads, boils and rheumatism, too. An increase in red-blood-cells means added strength, added vitality and renewed vigor. Because the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. Start taking S.S.S. today and watch it rout that annoying, skin destroying, health undermining army that holds your system in its grasp! Learn again what it means to enjoy peaceful, restful nights of slumber.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

LETTER FROM MRS. JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO ROTH & CHAPMAN, INTERIOR DECORATORS, PITTSBURG

Gentlemen: I am glad to know that you have found for me the early examples of American glass.

As you know, I wish to keep my dining room entirely early American. I am building it, as it were, around that almost priceless set of Spode which has come down to me from my great-grandmother.

I am delighted to think you have found the old landscape paper and were able to remove it from that house in Worcester. It is interesting to know that you can take antique paper from the walls of old houses and transfer it to other rooms in homes of those who wish to present an antique atmosphere.

Make the "sunshine window" as deeply recessed as possible. On the shelves I will arrange my collection of Colonial and early American glass, to which I am sure your late find will be a very important addition. This window will be particularly attractive when the sun shines through it, which it will most of the day if the Pittsburg smoke will let it.

I hope to see the dining room in my new-old home when I return from Albany, which will be next week. Sincerely,

LESLIE PRESCOTT.
(Mrs. John Alden Prescott).

Letter From Nurse Anderson To Mr. John Alden Prescott

My Dear Mr. Prescott: I think I should inform you of something that is happening here. A man by the name of Orson Gibson is paying a great deal of attention to your mother. This man seems very much of a gentleman. He probably is about the same age as your mother. He evidently is a staunch church member, and your mother and he go to church every Sunday morning and every Wednesday evening.

The are both very much opposed to dancing and cards, but after much consultation they decided they would go to see a moving picture depicting the life of Lincoln. After that it was an easy jump to the Ten Commandments, which they have concluded tells a great moral lesson.

They have been going now for some weeks almost every afternoon and it is rather laughable to see that they are not talking as much about great moral lessons as they are about good acting and good entertainment.

Perhaps, Mr. Prescott, you had better write your mother and ask her about this man, or better still, come over here yourself. I don't want to take on the responsibility of this growing intimacy.

Sincerely yours,
NURSE ANDERSON.

MOTHERS OF DAUGHTERS

Will Profit by reading Mrs. Quigg's Letter Telling How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her Daughter

Royersford, Pa. — "My daughter was sickly from the time she was 13 years old, she was irregular and also had severe headaches, and pains in her sides and back. She was this way about six months before I began giving her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped her very much. She is not bothered by headaches, backaches, or cramping any more, and has not missed but one day. We recommend it to other mothers with girls who have these troubles."—Mrs. QUIGG, 210 Main Street, Royersford, Pa.

Another Mother's Letter

Roxbury, Mass.—"At the age of 16 my daughter was all run down, nervous, with poor blood. These troubles made her weak and unfit to work. She tried several medicines, but they did her no good. Finally I induced her to take the Vegetable Compound, too, and she has gained in health and strength and is now working steadily. I have told these facts to many mothers."—Mrs. HUDSON, 252 Eustis Street, Roxbury, Mass.

STANZAS ON FREEDOM—

Is true Freedom but to break
Fetters for our own dear sake,
And, with leathern hearts, forget
That we owe mankind a debt?
No! true freedom is to share
All the chains our brothers wear,
And, with heart and hand, to be
Earnest to make others free!
They are slaves who fear to speak
For the fallen and the weak;
They are slaves who will not choose
Hatred, scoffing and abuse,
Rather than in silence shrink
From the truth they needs must think;
They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three.

—James Russell Lowell.

DIXON WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING—

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kelser of the Chicago road entertained a company of friends at dinner last evening.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS TO MEET TONIGHT—

The Royal Neighbors will meet this evening in Union hall.

Menus for a Family
Tested by SISTER MARY

Breakfast:

Stewed prunes, cooked wheat cereal, ham toast, crisp rye toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon:

Cheese ramikins, lettuce sandwiches, pineapple souffle, milk, tea.

Dinner:

Broiled sirloin steak, mashed potatoes, new carrots in orange cream sauce, curly endive with bacon dressing, sour cream pie, whole wheat rolls, milk, coffee.

Needless to say the members of a family who are under school age will not partake of the sour cream pie suggested to tickle the palates of father and big brother.

With this exception the menu for the day can be served as planned to all members of a family.

Cheese Ramikins.

Two tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, 2 eggs.

Melt butter, add flour and stir until perfectly blended and smooth. Scald milk and add slowly to first mixture, stirring constantly. Add salt, pepper and cheese. Remove from the fire when the cheese is melted. Add yolks of eggs well beaten. Let cool while beating the whites of the eggs until stiff and dry. Fold whites into cooked mixture and turn into buttered raimkins. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Pineapple Souffle.

One cup shredded pineapple, ½ cup sugar, whites 4 eggs, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, few grains salt.

Shred fresh pineapple and bring to the boiling point in its own juice. Remove from the fire and add half the sugar. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry, gradually beating in remaining sugar and lemon juice and salt. Fold in pineapple and turn into a buttered baking dish. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with a custard sauce made with the yolks of the eggs or with whipped cream.

New Carrots in Orange Cream Sauce.

One bunch new carrots, 1 cup cream, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 1 teaspoon granted rind, 2 teaspoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Wash and scrape carrots. Cut in matchlike pieces and cook in slightly salted boiling water until tender and the water is cooked away. Add orange juice and grated rind and cook over hot water until the juice is absorbed. Add cream, sugar and salt and simmer over hot water for 30 minutes. Serve sprinkled with minced parsley.

Receive D. A. R. at White House Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, April 23.—A reception at the White House by President and Mrs. Coolidge for attending delegates was included on today's program of the annual congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Two general sessions of the congress during the day were set aside for submission of further committee reports, dealing with a wide range of activities in which the society is now engaged.

The result of balloting during the day on candidates for the seven vice presidents general, who were formally placed in nomination last night will be announced to the congress at tonight's session. The elections are for three year terms.

Reports of state regents also will be in order at the night session.

Women's Fair Honors Prominent Women

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, April 23.—The Women's World's Fair set aside today to honor prominent women. Mrs. Nellie T. Ross, governor of Wyoming, was entertained at a breakfast of feminine celebrities in the Exposition Hall.

Other guests included Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, internal revenue collector of Chicago; Judge Mary Bartelme, Chicago; Jane Addams, social worker, Chicago; Mary Synon, writer, Chicago; Nancy Cox McCormack, sculptor, Chicago; Clara Louise Burnham, writer, Chicago; Dr. Alice Hamilton, specialist in occupational diseases, Harvard Medical School, Boston; Anna Stacey, artist, Chicago; Maude Radford Warren, writer, Chicago; Lois P. Hughes, manager of the Woman's Floor of a New York hotel; Dr. Lucia Briggs, president of the Milwaukee Downer College, Milwaukee; Katherine Cornell, actress, New York; Dr. Rowena Morse Mann, preacher, Chicago; Cyrena Van Gordon, opera singer, Chicago; Judge Katherine Sellers, Washington, D. C.

Judge Sellers of the District of Columbia juvenile court was said by fair managers to be the only woman federal judge in the country.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen of Chicago, chairman of the board of fair directors and a leader in civic activities, presided.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

Kitchen Cabinet.

You can make a kitchen cabinet by using a kitchen table and grouping about it shelves, with or without doors.

Easy Dishwashing.

A wire drying basket makes a substitute for a dishwashing machine. Fill it with dishes, then plunge in a pan of soapy water and keep moving until the dishes are clean.

Bamboo Broom Handle.

A broom with a light bamboo handle is much easier to operate than one with a heavy wooden stick.

Use Bran to Wash.

Bran may be used in place of soap for washing cretonnes.

Use Meat Bones.

When you buy a roast, ask to have the bones sent with the meat, as they make excellent stock for soups and gravies.

HONORED MISS GRIESIE'S BIRTHDAY—

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Luckey and family of Ashton were guests at the home of Mrs. Anna Griesie of Dixon Sunday. The gathering honored Miss Mabel Griesie's birthday anniversary. She received a number of handsome gifts. A most delightful day was enjoyed by all present.

Altar and Rosary Society Card Party

The Altar and Rosary society held a most successful card party last evening in Mystic Workers hall, twenty-six hostesses having tables nicely decorated.
